A BIG THANK YOU

Everyone at Stonewall would like to thank Faceparty, the organisers of The Big Gay Out, for their donation of £10,000 towards our campaign for Partnership Rights.

The fight is far from won. We're unhappy with the Government's proposals on pensions - they don't treat gay and lesbian couples the same as straight couples - and we face yet another battle with the House of Lords over a wrecking amendment that could derail the whole Bill.

NICO D

Nico D's (formally Nico Di Donna) sublime new store has just opened. The shop is minimalist in layout yet still allows a huge range of clothing to be displayed. Uncluttered, chic and air-conditioned (always a bonus), these clothes are designed to flatter, streamline and flaunt gay assets. Of course, if you are built like an Italian racehorse – with package to match – then you've already got a major headstart! Sexy clubwear, leather and denim jeans, fitted shirts that you won't want to take off. Looking for that special little number to wear to Soho Pride? Their sale is now on. Check out Nico D at 16A D'Arblay Street (between Wardour and Poland Street), tel 020 7287 0207.

BUJU BANTON WANTED OVER HOMOPHOBIC ATTACK

JAMAICAN dancehall artist Buju Banton, who gained notoriety in the west for his homophobic lyrics that call for the murder of lesbians and gays, is wanted in connection with an attack which left four gay men injured – one having received a broken arm. According to Amnesty International in London, Banton, whose real name is Mark Myrie, was identified by witnesses as part of a gang who attacked four gay men in their home in Carlisle Avenue on June 24th. Jamaican police are now seeking to interview him in connection with this attack. Banton has been the focus of an Outrage! campaign to stop 'murder music' following the release of his hit song 'Boom bye-bye (in a battyboy's head)' which calls for the murder of gays. Brett Lock from Outrage! said: "Critics of our campaign have said that the homophobic content of his lyrics is 'metaphorical' or just 'fantasy'. Now the star is wanted for a very real violent incident." Peter Tatchell added: "Outrage! has been campaigning over the past two years for the prosecution of Jamaican dancehall artists whose lyrics incite and glorify the murder of gay people. The campaign has resulted in concert cancellations in Europe and the USA."

BUMPER DTPM RECORDINGS PRIZE TO BE WON

DTPM Recordings have just released Guy Williams' EP2, 'Work/Just a DJ', which includes a remix of 'Work' by Kami. This diverse new three-tracker consists of the incessant groover 'Work' with its rolling congas, sexy vocal and electro funk bass line whilst Kami takes things on to a deeper hypnotic level in the remix. 'Just A DJ' is a slice of punchy Electro House. If you couldn't make it to the sensational launch party at DTPM fear not, as we have a copy of Guy Williams' EP2 and EP1 along with a pair of DTPM Recordings' Slipmats to be won. All you need to do is answer this question: What record label is Guy Williams' EP2 released on? Email your answer and contact details with 'GIVE ME GUY' in the subject field to editorial@qxmagazine.com by August 2nd.

FROLIC BY THE POOL WITH CRUSAID

THIS year marks the 18th birthday of a revered summer institution. Forget Glastonbury and Glyndeboune as we're talking style, style, style and hordes of gorgeous sexy boys. Of course – it must be Crusaid's annual summer Garden Party, which takes place on Sunday 22nd August. And as it's their 18th year the charity intends to celebrate this milestone with an extra-special day of fun in the sun to raise funds to help fight HIV and Aids. Guests can expect the usual sumptuous surroundings with swimming pool, free bar, tarot reading, massage and entertainment on hand to ensure this event remains the highlight of the social season. Last year £10,000 was raised but this year they want to smash that record. Tickets are available for a minimum donation of £60 and can be purchased by either calling Nadine on 020 7539 3896 or emailing her at nadinea@crusaid.org.uk. And don't forget your Speedos!

LOOK OUT FOR THE SORTED POLICE – AND WIN A HOLIDAY TO IBIZA FROM RESPECT

SORTED policemen will be patrolling gay bars and pubs across the West and East End to promote the vaccination campaign and talk to gay men about the dangers of Hepatitis A and B. The awareness campaign begins on August 2nd and anyone asking the Sorted police for a leaflet could also win a Respect holiday for two in Ibiza. Hepatitis B is 100 times more infectious than HIV, yet only one in two gay men in London is vaccinated. The procedure is free – so to find out more information check out www.hepinfo.org

IF you're a fan of those dreamy Czech Bel Ami boys, then your dreams are about to come true as Johan Paulik, Sebastian Bonnet, Mark Aubrey and Matt Philippe will be signing copies of their latest scorching adult movies at Prowler Soho on August 5th. It'll be your chance to meet them in the flesh from 6.30pm, as the boys promote Cover Boys, Pretty Boy and XL Files and by way of celebrating this sexy invasion, Prowler is offering customers a £5 discount on all Bel Ami titles. 'WHORES R US'

AFTER the escorts pressure group P.I.M.P. (Public Image & Management of Prostitutes) came to Head Office complaining of a bum deal we decided to work together to harmonise earnings and other issues. It seems that a small number of rogue escorts have been charging well under the usual domestic rates and some of our longer serving gay hookers have found that they cannot compete. After the market place has been flooded with prostitutes and masseurs, the laws of supply & demand dictate that prices must come down. This is fair play, but established hookers argue that their new rivals are conning the customer. A straw poll of elderly men who regularly use escorts revealed that they do indeed feel they are being short changed by the new kids on the block, complaining that an advertised 'full service' can often mean nothing more than a prostate massage and a quick tickle of the testicles if your lucky, and that false advertising can be a problem with 'very well endowed' sometimes translating to 'blessed like a budgie'.

Budgie vs Well Endowed

The sex-for-sale industry has been up in arms and it urgently needs addressing. Gay Scene Head Office has set up a P.I.M.P division and it is headed by gutter renowned madame Penny Tration. Penny is older than the gay scene and has been at the backside of the industry for over 70 years. She was due to be inaugurated as P.I.M.P President this coming Saturday, but we ended up doing it late last Sunday night after Penny was refused entry for DPTM for looking "dog rough" and needed cheering up a bit.

At the ceremony Penny told us: "Back in the day when I was whoring myself, the client always knew what he was getting. A full service meant a suck, a fuck, a fist, and an improvised lovers tiff (optional). And all my gentlemen callers got full use of my boudoir and feminine hygiene products and a complimentary lightly fingered buffet. But since I had my prosthetic legs installed and my artificial hip replacements back in the early 80s, following an unsuccessful foray into break-dancing, I wasn't as flexible as I once was and I decided to move into agency work. I vet all potential escorts, measure their particulars and I always insist on a free sample of course... Well a girl's gotta get her plastic legs up somehow!"

Penny Tration

All wannabe escorts now have to register with Penny in an attempt to control fair pricing and limit false advertising. Her 'Whores R Us' escort agency is already up and running and any enquiries should be sent to PennyTration@3rockets.com.

Head Office: Keeping Penny's Legs Up!

CUNTED CORNER

AS the major supplier of drugs to the gay scene it is up to me to make sure that people know their limits when abusing, so that they don't harm themselves, have a good time, and keep me in business. This week I am focussing on GHB ('Get Hospitalised Bitch'), which has come in for a battering lately. Many complain that it isn't used properly and that no one understands what the drug is capable of, so I have decided to instigate a 'Get To Know GHB' campaign. Below is a quick fix guide on what to expect from the drug:

➤ Freakshow – no one's doing glam anymore. Acquaintances will stare at you as they marvel at the strange faces you pull as the drug causes facial muscles to do gymnastics. We tested this theory on our style guru Rootperm Rita with marvellous results.

➤ Floorshow - if you really want to get some attention you could take another capful and collapse as you enter a comatose state. Hilarious! This can offer cause for concern but not to worry, most discerning clubbers now put protective headgear on when indulging in G in public places – just in case your friends are more concerned with dancing than breaking your fall.

➤ Centre Of Attention – if you really wanna be the centre of attention then GHB is definitely the drug for you girl. Make sure you neck enough of this foul tasting liquid to pass out for at least 2 hours. By that time you can guarantee that someone will call an ambulance. Everyone will be staring at you as you get stretched out of the club in full view of the entire gay scene. You will be the talk of the town for months to come. Hear the queens at chillouts complaining; "That bitch has had 4 ambulances and two weeks on cunting life support in the past month alone! How can I possibly compete with that...? (sob sob)." The only downside is that you don't get to witness your moment of glory as you will be unconscious luv.

PRESTIGE'S DIARY

Ibiza, Space & Drama: International performance

artist PRESTIGE reports from the Isle of Clubbing

IT'S 2.30am at the 2004 summer opening of the legendary Space in Ibiza. The superclub's outside compound sports two ten foot high podiums rising up either side of a huge catwalk. At its base a massive wall of lights flanks the DJ decks. Several thousand revellers are flying high to the uplifting house beats of Jose Devino. Then finally, it's show time, my time. To the synth stabs of 'Lifestyle' Prestige, the leanest androgynous in all the land, stomps down the runway. In trade mark Ziad Ghanem gold tassled teddy, Russian silver fox fur hat and six inch stits I tower well over seven feet tall. (Yes, it was me who was trend-forecasted for that new Dior ad.) Suddenly I realise I've got a big one, a problem, that is... my mic is not fucking working! Lucky that I always sing over my own vocal anyway as live mic sound quality sucks in most clubs. I have to spit out the lyrics down a dead mic. "Is it a rub n tug in the hot tub that gets you loved up or do you chase chub? Dom or sub, S or M, thanks for coming, see you again! Massage or frottage, a pearl necklace on your decellotage, does the thought of plastic keep you hard? AMEX, VISA, Mastercard. Are you addicted to surgery, like Pete Burns or Cindy, Can you spot at 20 paces a forgery of Gucci or LV? Money, Money, Money, Lifestyle, Dont Say No, Say Yes, Say More..."

I buck, writhe and crawl down that runway, putting out like I've never put out before, the crowd is my lover and the music is one big orgy. In final climax, pyrotechnics ejaculate from either side, and I scramble off stage, spent but elated. My biggest relief, despite fucked up sound, is that those party kids rocked out to my tune. ('Lifestyle' is a remix by MTV Masher, Lionel Vinyl, as played by 2 Many Djs in their recent Return to New York sets and is downloadable from http://www.elektrobank.net/downloads/fake_kurt.mp3)

The ubiquitous London clubbing experience that is Drama has bought me out to Balearic paradise. Promoters Terry Hart and Mark Herman, also responsible for Religion, have been invited to host Space's opening and inject some dazzle and deviance back into mega-clubbing on the island. The mainly straight crowd are agog at the risqué stage routines and abundance of taut flesh. It comes back to me that my podium trick of bending over, clad in a sequinned g-string bikini, and flame throwing between thighs had a few jaws on the floor. Fifteen very individual model/dancers dressed in Religion and Gola lend the night a stamp of character that is uniquely 'Drama.' Stylish, sexy, uninhibited, out there. Flashy London is lovely in the sun.

Being the Nadia Aumerman of podium sluts comes at a price. Hours at the illustrious Simbad Hotel in Tallamanca has been taken up with wig-brushing, plucking, shaving, re-hydrating, clipping, buffing, moisturising, layering every last crevice with St Tropez then laying out, cooking it all into a golden tan. For each set on the Pedestal of Shame a different Prestigious incarnation is displayed. That's the benchmark I set to remain top of the pile over my fierce, drug-addicted competition. First is Bollywood Prezi: Bangkok stripper bikini, gold Indian jewellery, i.e. nose ring and hand decoration, turban and blue tresses. Next is Gestapo Zestige, red ▶

► The Ibiza Dance Pass

CLUB Tix specialises in individual event tickets to all of Ibiza's major clubs. Most of their tickets allow the bearer access to the venue via the guest list queue using Ticketweb's 'will call' system with tickets sold representing a saving on door prices. The pass is now sold by 5000 UK agents including the major high street chains and online travel companies such as Lastminute.com and Expedia. Check out www.clubtix.co.uk/ for more info.

► patent thigh-high stiletto boots and suspenders, black bikini, chain mail belt, Russian Army cap and Elvira-type black bob. The last look is Sunset Boulevard Prezi; unruly Motley Crue style mane, pink cropped 'Corona' tank, and fluoro orange g-string.

By late afternoon, Space outside is rammed and Lord Hamilton and his assistant Danni are prepping the models with military precision. Stylist to the stars, Hamilton, normally used to sprucing the likes of Nicole, Kylie, Geri et al, is the only one who can really bring the Prestige in me to life through his amazing make-up. He takes over a small room as his own, which he rightly needs and sets to work. All is fine until the speed-diva that is Desire approaches the back stage area. It's Hamilton's work space and there's no room for anyone who's not supposed to be there. A scrap ensues where Hamilton orders Desire to stay out. It's just one of the special moments captured on film that evening for the Prestige Video Diary pilot.

Anyway, After the PA, at around three in the morning I collected an amazing pair of Gola red high tops and we end up throwing down a chilled vibe at Skin's place in the old town. Her stylist Sherman is there, Smokin Jo, Terry, Hongi and DJ Magazine. Instead of flying back to London the next day, myself, Hamilton and Danni stay on and have a little vacation. We rent a fantastic apartment above the yummy and trendy Croissant Show, just outside the Old Town. The next few days are low key by day; on the Playa de Chavalet, checking out Cafe Del Mar, and going to the nearby island of Formentera and cycling around the beaches. My night time memories are a happy haze of restaurants like The Garden, bars like Dome and clubs like Amnesia, not to mention the flash mob, beach, hotel and villa parties we were invited to but barely went to one. It was nice to relax. As we were leaving Danni reflected that it felt like there are mischievous spirits on the island. I agree that it's magical in some way. I can't wait to come back for Space's closing party on Sunday 3rd October.

> See more Prestige and download tunes at www.worldofkurt.net. Djs and producers should check out the Mash Up competition at where you can download the 'Lifestyle' vocal and create your own mix.

'GAY' IS THE WORD

Oscar Wilde may have been dead for over a hundred years now but gay literature - and its authors - is alive and well. HUGH MULHALL reports...

GAY'S the Word bookshop celebrates 25 years of trading this year and, as part of those celebrations, the organisers recently held a series of readings, 'Seven Sundays at Seven', in conjunction with Shaun Levin's 'Queer Writers and Poets'. Throughout the months of June and July the events have highlighted much of the very best of gay and lesbian writing and featured some of the most successful and award winning authors the scene has produced, Jake Arnott, Geoff Ryman and Patrick Gale among them.

'Gay's the Word' opened its doors in 1979, taking its inspiration from bookstores in San Francisco and New York. Its purpose was to supply the demand for Gay and Lesbian printed material that mainstream bookstores ignored or, as in the case of WH Smiths, banned. Since those days it seems most libraries and every high street bookstore has a gay section, and that more and more 'out' gay writers are part of the mainstream publishing industry.

I asked Jim McSweeney, the Manager, if gay literature had emerged as a genre in recent years, or are we just in the grip of a plethora of talented writers who happen to be homos? And, what exactly is gay lit'?

"Gay literature is writing by writers who are gay on a gay theme or with gay characters," he replied. "Gay writers have been having mainstream success since the sixties: James Baldwin's 'Giovanni's Room' or John Rechy's 'City of Night' for example. In the seventies there was Andrew Hollerman's 'Dancer from the Dance', and in the eighties Edmund White and David Leavitt amongst others."

Jake Arnott, Geoff Ryman and Patrick Gale took centre stage on successive Sundays to present either novels newly published, or to read from work in progress, permitting us a peek into the minds of three of the leading lights in the current crop of queer writers.

Jake would perhaps balk at being described as the current heartthrob of the literary scene, and wince at having been accredited with the creation of 'Geezer Chic', but if success is an aphrodisiac then he is sex god number one. His three novels 'The Long Firm', 'He Kills Coppers' and 'Truecrime' have not only been heaped with praise but have sold by the truck load. The rights to his first novel, 'The Long Firm', were bought by the BBC and the resulting four part drama (BBC2, 9pm, Wednesday) has already become essential cult viewing.

The novels form a trilogy exploring London's underworld from the sixties to the present day. Using historical fact he weaves a fiction that explores gangland violence, homosexuality, and the rave scene. They are page turners, likely to keep you up at night, but which yet demonstrate a more complex approach to characterisation and theme than might be expected from an average crime novel.

I asked if he sees himself as part of a gay literary scene. "I don't think of myself as a gay writer. I don't reject the gay scene, I am a part of it, but it is one of many scenes of which I'm also part," he says.

His decision to see his sexuality as a part of himself rather than his sole identity is reinforced in his choice of the word 'homosexualist', the adjective rather than ►

▶ the noun, to describe his sexuality, and by his assertion that behaviour and identity are becoming blurred. And he takes admirable pride in describing himself as an 'outsider', despite apparent public approbation for everything he touches.

When I asked if he thought Ronnie Kray was likely to supersede the popularity of Judy Garland as a gay icon he answered with an emphatic "I hope not." And when asked if he believed we had now found ourselves living in a more egalitarian land of liberty and freedom he reminded me that gay people had unprecedented freedom of expression in Germany in the years prior to the Nazi rise to power and World War 2.

Geoff Ryman. I have no doubt, would be totally appalled at the thought of being called thinking man's crumpet, but it's too late for that now, he'll just have to put up with it. Like Jake, he takes historical fact from popular culture, and from it creates a new fiction. Born in Canada, he has lived in the UK since the mid seventies, and has achieved great success, working within the genre of fantasy and science fiction. He has won the World Fantasy Award and the British Science Fiction Association Award for his novel 'The Unconquered Country'. His online interactive novel, '253' won a prestigious P. K. Dick award, the printed version becoming a best seller.

In the novel 'Was' he takes one of the gay scene's great icons and tears it apart. All notions of the 'Wizard of Oz' as featured in popular consciousness are thrown out of the window. Instead he creates a harrowing alternative in which Frank L Baum, Oz's creator, derives his inspiration for the ruby slippered one from an orphan Dorothy, sexually abused by her uncle, and is living in conditions that would nowadays be thought of as belonging to the third world. Dorothy's story runs parallel to that of Jonathon, who we see as an 'Oz' obsessed child and as a b-movie actor with HIV using his last days to follow that yellow brick road to find Dorothy. Geoff explodes the myths behind one of Americas great icons, 'Hollywood Babylon' style, as Dorothy finishes her days in a mental institution.

The novel has brought him huge critical success amongst literary critics and yet has its feet firmly in the genre of 'queer lit' if there is such a thing. I tried and failed to get answers to the dozen or more questions I was left with after reading the book, but he has proved an elusive man to get hold of. I have instead found myself pondering the Confucius like words he left me with after the reading he gave in the bookshop - 'Was' is Oz'. Guess we're back in Kansas again. Shit.

I would suggest Patrick Gale's novels are a bit like those French art films in which nothing seems to happen much for a very long time and then you find yourself bang smack in the midst of the most total homo filth and perversion, and you're not quite sure how you got there. At least that's what happens in 'Rough Music', which garnered not only critical approval but also found itself on the best seller lists. It is a subtle exploration of the relationships of a closely knit group of people with a central character who is gay. I asked him about 'gay lit', "When I was first published, back in 1986, gay characters in mainstream fiction were still a bit of a novelty. Now they're just part of the available spectrum," he says. "I like to think that not only straight readers might have their attitudes ever so slightly tweaked while reading my work, but that gay readers might too. These days it's probably commercial death to have a novel branded as gay rather than simply as readable."

The shelves of your local Waterstones or Books etc may quite possibly have any number of the dozen novels he currently has in print, but you probably won't find them in the gay section; they will be stocked upon the shelves with the other mainstream literary fiction; along side modern classics by Jean Genet, Colin Maclnnes or Yukio Mishima.

On the night of the reading he chose not to read from 'A Sweet Obscurity', the new novel, which is straight - but to read instead from a work in progress, 'Friendly Fire' - in deference to his audience and surroundings. "If I find myself telling a story that's basically straight, then that's the story I end up telling," Patrick states. "Quite unconsciously, I seem to have alternated between straight and gay emphasis in my novels from the start."

These are three very different novelists, who write in very different styles, on very different subjects and who succeed in extending the definition of what kind of person, exactly, it is, who indulges in same sex love. All these novels subvert. They are articles of subversion. They are a queer way of seeing the world in which all those things that are normal, and natural, and right, come up for reappraisal. And they are great entertainment.

We're living in an age in which camp and kitsch is manufactured, packaged and posted to straight couples all over the country. Yet despite the apparent plethora of gay product available, 'Gay's the Word' has no serious rivals. It is a community resource, and a den of unfettered homo pleasure. Its stock covers the classics of gay literature as well as the most cutting edge and up to date imported literature from America; there are queer books relating to gay life in all its different forms and variety, and shelves filled with gay art and erotica.

I know, I know. Just when the majority of boys in Gayland thought Euro 2004 was over and it was safe to come out from behind the Ikea chaise, you open your favourite gay mag expecting to see club, bar and DJ reviews, news, gossip and pics of lovely boys, but are assailed by THAT word again... FOOTBALL!

And ordinarily I would be with you. Any hint of goal posts, grass or the offside rule usually has me reaching for the remote and flicking the plasma to almost anything else. Even Boot Sale Challenge has more appeal to me than watching The Match – unless of course Freddie Ljungberg (he of the CK underwear) is playing, but then we just turn down the volume, crank up the stereo and... well, you get the picture.

But this is different. Where footy on the telly holds little appeal for some, there is little I like more than the buzz, atmosphere and raw testosterone of going to watch a match live. Even better than that, if one of the teams in question is Stonewall FC, you know you are going to watch quality ball play AND get to mingle with them in the bar after - and if you're really lucky overhear which club they'll be hanging out in later looking to release any pent up adenalin or ease that groin strain.

So who are Stonewall? Well it all began in 1991 in response to a press ad from one guy looking for fellow players, and it was the UK's first gay mens football team. They joined the Sportsmans Senior Sunday Football League in that first year and now have enough players to run 4 teams as well as play in competitive straight leagues, hold regular training and 5-a-side nights and the obligatory social events!

But they don't just participate in the leagues, they win them. Last year the first team – The London Lions – won the West Middlesex County League Senior Division in such a convincing fashion, they lost only 2 games all season. They also won the Islington Midweek League the year before, and were gold medallists at the Sydney Gay Games. The second team – The London Apprentices – also won a league title in Division 3 of the

CHRIS JEPSON invites you to

SHOOT AND SCORE

Middlesex County League after losing just once all season, and they took Silver at the Gay Games. QX will catch up with Stonewall again in Munich for the Eurogames next week (www.eurogames.info/2004), and as three times winners, hopes for the first team are higher than a Beckham penalty!

Now if all this pro talk is putting you off, well don't let it. The club has plenty of room for us ball virgins who just fancy a kick around, and in fact run 5-a-side sessions for just that purpose. So if you fancy kicking leather, sucking oranges, dribbling or shooting, and you can't get yourself along to the Hoist, then give the guys at Stonewall a call on 020 7565 4254, e-mail them at stonewallfc@hotmail.com or check them out online at www.stonewallfc.org

Where else these days can you play on the same field (in any sport) with the current British, European, World and Gay Olympic Champions?

▶ FILM OF THE WEEK

THE STEPFORD WIVES (12)

THIS film took a pounding from American critics who didn't catch the dry irony under the camp surface. And it couldn't be camper: Nicole Kidman and Matthew Broderick move from NYC to a too-perfect suburb and meet the divine likes of Glenn Close, Bette Midler and Christopher Walken. And to add to the fruitiness, there's also a gay couple there. Yes, it's a remake of a serious 1970s thriller, but this time black humour weaves through the story along with a fluffy pink exterior that'll keep you giggling much louder than the humour-challenged straight people around you. Don't miss it.

Rating: ★★★★★★☆☆

▶ ALSO THIS WEEK...

LAST LIFE IN THE UNIVERSE (15) might be the most beautifully filmed movie of the year, a serene and very cool Thai thriller shot by gifted cinematographer Chris Doyle. The surreal story is engaging and otherworldly, beautifully acted and directed. Must see.

Rating: ★★★★★★☆☆

> KING ARTHUR (12) is Jerry Bruckheimer's take on the British legend and, surprise, it's a medieval action movie! Clive Owen and Ioan Gruffudd are ruggedly handsome warriors, and Keira Knightley is delightfully over the top. Basically it's Braveheart with explosions. Stupid but rather good fun.

Rating: ★★★★★★☆☆

< ANYTHING ELSE (15) is another uneven Woody Allen comedy, this time starring Jason Biggs and Christina Ricci in an unconvincing romance between a writer and a complete nutter. As we expect from Allen, there's some brilliant observational humour, but it's not up to standard.

Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆☆

16 YEARS OF ALCOHOL (18) takes an artful and introspective look at alcoholism with a strong British cast, including Kevin McKidd, Laura Fraser and

Susan Lynch. But it's too self-important and serious to engage us. Important issue, but frustratingly mopey filmmaking.

Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆☆

AND two very different Japanese films are both worth seeing: GOZU (18) is the latest unhinged horror craziness from Takashi Miike, combining several of his themes in a wonderfully deranged way. While the endearing and entertaining PING PONG (12) tells of two young men whose friendship is strained by table tennis competitiveness. A real gem.

Both gem ★★★★★★☆☆

RECOMMENDED...

- 1. FAHRENHEIT 9/11 • Whether or not you agree with Michael Moore's anti-Bush views, this is a must-see.
- 2. SPIDER-MAN 2 • Superb sequel that digs much deeper emotionally than the cartoonish original.
- 3. SHREK 2 • Thoroughly enjoyable sequel that's just as irreverent as the first film and has some great new characters.
- 4. THE STEPFORD WIVES • Hilariously camp remake of the creepy-suburb thriller with Nicole, Glenn and Bette.
- 5. LAST LIFE IN THE UNIVERSE • This surreal Thai thriller might be the most beautifully shot film ... ever.

HOT OFF THE PRESS...

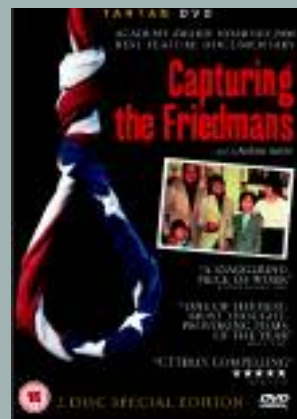

BRYAN SINGER will bring his queer sensibilities to the new Superman movie, now that he's replaced McG as director. Alas, Singer's X-Men 3 will be delayed as a result • Russell Crowe is going back to his roots to star in Eucalyptus, a small-budget Aussie film by Jocelyn Moorhouse, who directed Crowe in Proof some 13 years ago • Hunky Josh Lucas will play a 1960s basketball coach in Glory Road, the true story of an all-black championship team • And after years of legal wrangling, it looks like Sharon Stone will uncross her legs in Basic Instinct 2 after all.

▶ DVD OF THE WEEK

CAPTURING THE FRIEDMANS (15)

ONE of the most startling documentaries in memory arrives on DVD in a special edition that includes a whole disc of extra material (interviews, home movies, follow-up reports and even new evidence on the case). It's about a family trying to deal with the father's conviction on paedophilia charges. But the magic of this award-winning film is the Friedmans' willingness to let us see all of their dirty laundry! And there are shocking surprises around every corner. It's not only a gripping look at a disintegrating family, but it's also a bracingly honest film about sexuality and abuse. Essential (Tartan).

Rating: ★★★★★★☆☆

Album: PHUNKRIDE mixed by ALAN X
Label: DJ PROMO
Style: FUNKY HOUSE

PHUNKRIDE is the latest mixed CD from QX's own 'Vital Vinyl' reviewer DJ Alan X. There probably isn't a London queen alive that hasn't bumped and grinded to one of his sets. A firm favourite amongst the funky house brigade he can be heard in some of the capital's hottest clubs and bars including Crash Afterhours, Action, Salvation, Code 5 @ Barcode and Heaven. Put Alan X behind the decks and watch the crowd jump! On his latest DJ promo he mixes up a collection of tunes that are uplifting, deliciously dipped in disco vibes and with a percussive touch. Opening with Deep Swing's latest release 'Take Me To The Disco', the door is open for a ride that lasts for well over an hour. Included are other tracks like the QX Chart topper 'Dare To Dream' by Bhooka & T Bone, Disco Darling's Dan Hartman sampling 'Mia's Groove', a tougher remix of last summer's anthem 'Dreams' by Kings of Tomorrow and the Warren Clarke remix of Martin Solvig's guaranteed floor filler 'Rockin Music'. Frustratingly Alan has also included the vocal version of 'Lola's Theme' by the Shapeshifters instead of the superb original instrumental. There are too many tracks have been ruined by adding a cheesy vocal with somewhat dubious lyrics to make it cross over from the dance floor to the national chart - but why do they have to cross back? Also have a listen out for Hool & Bruckheimer's 'In The Beginning' (that is the track that goes 'mother fucking house music') and the haunting and melodic future anthem 'Habla Con La Luna' by Mario Ochoa. As usual, an excellent collection of tracks from across the funky spectrum and mixed in perfect beat. No doubt this CD will be dropped at many private after-hours. Check www.seenqueen.com/music to listen to a selection of tracks from the CD or hang out where Alan X does.

Artist: Armand Van Helden
Title: My My My
Label: Southern Fried

ARMAND distils the glamour of Studio 54 and blends it with the refined essence of pumping house. He's an alchemist, turning the wheels of steel into wheels of gold. QX readers probably don't need the low-down on this particular track. Fearless style, tireless groove, timeless vocal hook.

» GIG REVIEW

Artist: Simon & Garfunkel
Venue: Hyde Park
Date: 16th July

TIME'S cruel lines are visible on the faces of Simon & Garfunkel, and their voices have clearly faded too - many a note was flatly sung. Nonetheless, they bowled over the audience with a very powerful performance of hit after hit. Heartfelt, deep and introspective, and ever so slightly cheesy harmonies rang out over Hyde Park. Many a teary eye was seen. If they return, try and go.

Artist: The Departure
Title: All Mapped Out

Label: EMJ
 HARKING back to the early eighties Mod years, this band hovers between pastiche and deadly serious rock & roll. With all the posturing of an early Jam or Roxy Music, they'll no doubt cut a following. And guess what, they only formed six months ago. Cynical marketing play or prodigies?

Title: Live At Hyde Park
Label: Warner Bros

Only the most prophetic could have predicted ten years ago RHCP's status today. They've a toe in the rock pantheon, really. This tour saw them play to almost one million fans. Live concert recordings are normally quickly forgotten, and admittedly this won't ultimately be exempt. But for fans this is near compulsory listening.

» SINGLE OF THE WEEK

Artist: Air
Title: Alpha Beta Gaga
Label: Source

YOU might recognise this distinctive whistling chorus from being used in an Orange advert. Probably the most radio friendly song on their slow-burning LP Talkie Walkie, but not the most profound. As ever, sublime melodies effortlessly transport you away. The radio version is a slightly jazzed-up and lyric laden take on the album's more pedestrian original.

» ALBUM OF THE WEEK

Artist: The Fighting Cocks
Title: Come And See
Label: FGZ Records

THIS one is only for the brave! As the cover indicates, expect music with a very cartoony, almost Dick Dastardly energy. An 'everything but the kitchen sink' approach to music presides: white knuckle techno, 1940s big band swing, slinky reggae, hoppety-hippety, and the indescribable. Kind of like drinking five cans of Redbull.

How HIV transmission works: Sex Toys and Fisting

Howard hadn't realised what kind of party it was going to be

HIV can survive outside the body for several hours. If there is any HIV-infected blood or cum on shared dildos or other sex toys, then the virus can be passed on.

HIV can also be passed on when someone fists one person after another, without washing his hand or changing gloves, or fucks more than one person without changing condoms.

▶ AD81 - 'RUNNER' (Contact)

DAVE CROSS launches his new label with this funky-up chunk of spunky House from the studios of Andy Alder. The dynamic duo collaborate on yet another energetic piece of House music sampling snippets from the Three Degree's classic 'Runner' of many moons ago. It sounds fresh from the start and with that deep bassline should already be creating plenty of excitement on dancefloors across the nation by the time you read this.

▶ LAURENT WOLF - 'PUMP IT UP' (Darkness / Cyber)

FRENCH maestro Laurent Wolf comes up with this dark, driven monster flipped with the rather fierce Percucion which features a Spanish female vocal just speaking the word 'Percucion' over an unfolding landscape of percussion (you guessed it!) and looping bass notes. We are loving the woodpecker noises and other animal sounds and of the two tracks this is shaping up to gain most plays.

▶ DJ CHUS & DAVID PENN - 'WILL I (DISCOVER LOVE)' (Azuli)

CURRENTLY taking the bets as contender for the anthem of this summer with its Latin percussion and beach party etiquette this has Ibiza written all over it and would be perfect on any beach terrace. The track is credited as featuring Concha Buika, who we presume is the singer (maybe she plays the bongos) – who cares! The track is fierce and takes us on a trip as the lyric sings "Will I discover real love... real love...". Smooth as ice cream on a sunny day!

▶ SIRENS - 'BABY' (Kitchenware)

FROM the home of the Lighthouse Family, Prefab Sprout and soon to come, Lisa Stansfield, the legendary label returns with its latest offering – the four piece that everyone is getting excited about, Sirens. They look cool, sound great and have all the right mixes on board to go the whole way and climb all charts known to mankind. The girls are like a cross between All Saints and Atomic Kitten and while the original mixes of this were hailed by none other than Blues & Soul magazine for being cutting edge R&B, these Assquake mixes are quite simply gonna make your... er... Assquake! Ruff enuff

REVOLTAGE

ALL the way from N.Y.C. Princess Julia spun out at Larry Tee's weekly spot Disgraceland (Thurs at The Crobar). This is a must-go-to weekly event, there's nothing else like it. Dressing up - dressing down, musically diverse and the atmosphere is decadent! (Boy) George made an appearance with our faves Avenue D, performing a hot ditty: something 'Batty' man. We love it when George goes straight(ish)! Can you imagine such a thing? George giving it to those voluptuous Ave D girls!

Now then - N.Y. does have its parallels with Ye Olde London town. Musically speaking there's an air of creativity with bands like Optigrab performing their brand of 'Letric Boogie Beats'. Followers include the effervescent Lady Miss Keir, who let it all go when they performed at alternative music venue Don King last week. In with the in crowd: Armand - avantgarde performance with talent. A name to watch out for.

The Ones are on a rock 'n' roll with their unique blend of stylish beats. Princess Julia has gone for it with a collaboration on a secret Ones track... not much info yet - watch this space! The Countess is in N.Y. Check her forthcoming U.K. track with Eon titled 'Magazines' - simply to die for!

Moscow rocks big time! There isn't quite a freak scene like there is in London but there are sexy people dancing to all sorts, including 'lectro. Electro-house mainly but not so much of the more crazy stuff. The DJs there are really on the ball re their electro beats. Mark Moore thought he'd impress them by pulling out some big tunes such as Alter Ego and King Roc, which, of course, they already had. Mark thinks it's still the 80's in Moscow with long queues for hot new imports! We're sure he took a bag of soft toilet roll with him to give out as presents.

The clubs are amazing and Mark visited four of them in one night including one in a huge old theatre with scaffolding. In London it would be considered far to dangerous to be open. Everyone there is obsessed with being a VIP. One club had a dancefloor with a VIP balcony that over looked it. $500 entry deposit for a table. Above that was yet another balcony called the 'Super VIP Room'. $1500 entry! After Communism they have gone from one extreme to the other. Mark played one club where they rattled their pots of caviar to show their appreciation. He played Miss Kitten 'Suck my dick, kiss my ass!' Also a 1985 remix of 'Moscow Disco' by Telex. He half expected the response to be 'Everytime a foreign DJ comes here they always play that fucking record!' but no one seemed to have heard it before. Much rattling of caviar!

ARTS BITCHING

WITH FRAULEIN SASHA SELAVIE

► BURLESQUE
IMMODESTY BLAIZE & WALTER.
 5 Stars! Aphrodisiac Artistry!

AM I too Catholic to commit suicide? No way, so cheer me on! Sure, in my faith, it's a mortal sin, but I'd rather endure an eternity of creamy, Hellish cunnilingus than moronic harping at God! Quite simply, I'm a sucker for temptation, the moral heroin Satan hooks every hedonist on! And in 2004, I'm swamped with choice. Too much, in fact. Okay, Oscar Wilde's juicy epigram claims, 'the only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it', but try that now, and you'll die in a fisting orgy high on GHB and crystal meth!

Mercifully, there are safer options. Why indulge in the amoral slaughter of the equivalent of battlefield sex when you can try dignified debauchery? In a sweet paradox only possible in a period of total overkill, the naughty-but-nice thrills of 1890s burlesque are back - with a vengeance! Screw the absurd race for Zeppelin tits or dick extensions - I'll take hints of pleasure any time. If nothing else, it's the sheer style that's seductive, the hiss of black satin barely masking what's beneath, with no crude descent to lap-dancing gynaecology! And out of the huge wave of performers currently surfing the burlesque wave, I'd pick the stunning Immodesty Blaize and her thrillingly louche stage partner, Walter, as the cream of the (riding) crop! Now, those unable to master the panache needed (like trashy go-go boys) will sneer and call the form shamelessly elitist, but excuse me, isn't exclusivity what all queens really aspire to, despite accidents of biology like negative IQs and absent charisma? Sorry boys, but style is everything, from the food and sex you choose to how you do it! So let's set the scene. Alright, Hoxton Hall - the site of Immodesty's efforts this particular night - is hardly Park Lane, but it's still the Ground Zero of Brit-Art, and what could be more appropriate than deeply ironic, Victorian music hall?

Step in, and the ghosts of Jack the Ripper's murdered tarts immediately slip up your G-string. Yes, we're talking an über-boudoir, all dim lights, red velvet, intimate tables and parallel, stage-facing balconies crammed with panting punters. It's the kind of place where jissom can fly at the wink of a ruched bra, or Walter's artfully tasselled balls! But like an Irish virgin with a hot, tranny hooker, I'm being too premature in my descriptive ejaculations! Let's zoom in, as the curtain rises. A flickering silent movie, all leering villain and helpless, kohl-eyed vamp, looms above an enticing, indistinct shape reclining on the stage's chaise-lounge. Suddenly, the movie dies, sultry lights flare and brassy, hormone-heavy strip music pours in our ears! There's one electric, pregnant beat of silence, then Immodesty rises like Botticelli's Venus maxed up for Nancy dell'Olio sex! Very fully-figured (but bewitchingly so) she's blessed with a triple-take face, and eyes so sexually hot they'd melt an armoured dildo! Far too sussed for mere obviousness, Immodesty seduces Sigmund Freud's hopeless, linear take on sex and leaves it a gift-wrapped, babbling simpleton! Which means stripping in reverse gear, adding to her mystique with every layer slipped on, and riding her huge, adult rocking-horse with the predatory power of Paris Hilton in a Ferrari! Unbelievably - considering my hormonally-shrunken assets - Immodesty even stuck a fish-hook in my libido! And for those who prefer dicks, there's the severely chic, John Steed pervery of Walter, whose sunken cheekbones beneath his bowler hat give him a Wild West, bounty killer edge! Twirling his umbrella like a torturer twirls a scalpel, he's upper-class hypocrisy personified, all stockings and suspenders beneath the suit! But he's no one-note artist - his Britney Spears has to be seen to be believed, while his powdered-wig, Marquis de Sade (flanked by Japanese goth girls in rubber tossing rose petals) is a masterclass in spinning, testicular tassles! My verdict? Suck them to your bosoms while you can!

CABARET

BY KEITH MC

OVER THE RAINBOW WITH TIM MCARTHUR

MY new show, Over the Rainbow, was inspired by, well, a drunken dinner with two dear neighbours of mine, Betty and Andre. A happy time was had by all when Andre started to play the old Johanna (piano for those who are unaware of cock-e-ney rhyming slang) and the gin bottle appeared. Well, Betty and I started to - I want to say sing - but it was more like the occasional "la-la". We went through all kinds of songs from the 1920s to jazz standards and even a bit of country and western. But I slowly began to realise what great tunes and lyrics belonged to one particular composer; how famous some of his songs are; and that nobody really knows who he is. The guy's name is Harold Arlen and he wrote the score/soundtrack for a very famous musical - 'The Wizard Of Oz'. What an impact the phrase "a friend of Dorothy" has in gaylect. Arlen also wrote many other songs for Judy such as 'The Trolley Song', 'The Man That Got Away', 'Come Rain or Come Shine' and of course the gay anthem 'Somewhere Over the Rainbow'.

And so, a show was born. So yes, in the show, I belt out lots of Judy numbers with a modern twist along with a bit of audience participation involving everyone gesturing with Judy Garland arms. Not camp at all.

Other great composers that we perform are Cole Porter and George Gershwin. Great melodies and powerful emotional lyrics, it's a chance to indulge in a touch of nostalgia, a bit of romance, humour, heart-break and "love conquers everything" - sorry is that too gay?

And it's exciting to be going back to Jermyn Street Theatre. It's a charming space, very intimate with the audience right in front of you. Last time I performed there was last November, when my comedy creation, Sister Mary McArthur, performed her first solo nun show. God bless her, and all who sail in her! Performing there is like performing at home. Since 2000 I have had much involvement with the theatre - producing cabaret/West End diva seasons, Mathew Todd's play 'Blowing Whistles', directing Holly Penfield in 'Love Sex and Retrofemininity', and Earl Grey in 'Silver Heaven'. I've also performed in many cabaret shows, including 'Dangerous Cabaret' and the fun high camp 'Euro-Magic-Vision' based on the Eurovision song Contest. Next year we are launching the first ever British Cabaret awards which is going to be very exciting, as it will acknowledge, support and encourage the wealth of talent on the British Cabaret scene.

Now? Well I am currently cruising... on a boat that is, presenting a show called 'Legends Of the 80s' for P&O, with six winners of 'Stars in Their Eyes'. I am the Mathew Kelly/Cat Deeley role, without the facial hair of course. It's amazing they really sound like the real stars, Elton, Tom Jones, Barbara and Cher to name but a few. It's also great to see exciting places like Lisbon and Madeira. The weather is gorgeous and there are lots of seamen around - hooray! As soon as I get off the ship, then it's a mad combination of performing 'Over The Rainbow', directing 'Fiddler on The Roof' during the day for students, and co-presenting with Sadie Nine on BBC Radio London in the wee small hours (said with a very Scottish accent). If you like great tunes and lyrics and a bit of camp then please do come and see the show, say 'Hi' after and show me your Judy!

> Over The Rainbow opens at the Jermyn Street Theatre on Friday 6th August. For further information and tickets call, 020 7287 2875.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

VARIOUS VENUES EDINBURGH FRINGE FESTIVAL

LAST week we gave you an overview of some of the shows that gay performers are taking up to this year's Edinburgh Fringe Festival. This week it's the turn of the stand-ups a n d cabaret a c t s w e have come t o know a n d love from t h e scene whether that be via

The Black Cap or Comedy

Camp and other venues.

Topping & Butch, probably the most accomplished satirists on the circuit are presenting two shows, 'Afternoon Tease', where they'll be joined by various celebs such as Scott Capurro, and 'Pull Out Now' which will be packed with up to the minute tropical song parodies along with their unmistakable brand of camp humour. They caused a sensation last year, and we bet they're going to be even bigger this year.

Jason Wood's 'Being Glorious' will combine his unique style of camp excess with faultless impressions of some of the world's most famous singers and as he said in these pages a month ago "the new show is going to be pure escapism, which is what I think we all need."

Jo Caulfield, the funniest female comedian on the circuit, will be presenting her one-woman show, 'Role Model', and will also be appearing alongside Gina Yashere and Lucy Porter in 'Funny Women At The Fringe' so it's good to see that women are getting a higher profile this year - let's just hope the Perrier panel give them their due! Janice Connolly (Holy Mary from Phoenix Nights) will be appearing as Stockport mother of five, Barbara Nice in Barbara the Vampire Slayer whilst Stephen K Amos, a favourite at Comedy Camp and winner of Time Out stand up of the year, presents his take on life at The Gilded Balloon.

MATT JOSHUA tells you everything you need to know about Soho Pride 2004...

DID you come to last year's Soho Pride? Well around 20,000 dancing dykes, partying poofs and a lorry load of good time girlz and guyz did. If you check the Soho Pride map you can't fail to notice that those lovely people on Westminster Council have allowed all of Soho, that's the majority of the W1 postcode, to be pedestrianised. With over twenty bars, clubs and gay businesses involved Soho Pride is taking the loud and proud gay vibe OUT onto the streets for what looks set to be a fabulous day.

This year's Soho Pride is sponsored by Red Stripe, Polstar Vodka and Red Bull, with the Metropolitan Police on hand lending their full support, ensuring the day runs smoothly and safely.

This year we really are spoilt for choice; all our favourite bars will be open: Bar Code, Rupert Street, Duke of Wellington, The Yard, Escape, Freedom, Comptons, their 'gay area'. The park events that have happened over the last few years are high risk and even though these events are billed as high profile gay events they don't cement the London gay community. The actual date for Soho Pride is organic, there is no special importance attached to it. St Anne's Gardens was booked during July and the 1st August seemed like a good date. Soho Pride celebrates Gay London and does so within the area that we all recognize as being 'gay land'. Last year's event was a lovely day, but I expect this year is going to be a lot busier."

Adrian Eleftheriou, Soho Pride's Operations Director had this to say; "We started Soho Pride last year because we felt that we wanted a free Pride and one which was in the heart of the LGBT community. Last year's event was a huge success with thousands of people celebrating in the streets of Soho. This year's event will be bigger and better, a larger part of Soho will be closed to traffic and we have introduced a new DJ zone and market stalls. The cabaret area has moved to St Anne's Gardens due to the large crowd that amassed on Old Compton Street last year."

SOHO SO PROUD

Admiral Duncan, G-A-Y Bar, Ku Bar, Sanctuary, First Out, The Edge and The Candy Bar. So whether you want to butch it up with the boys in Bar Code, camp it up with the disco dollies in G-A-Y or groove with the Candy Bar girlz, it's all on offer.

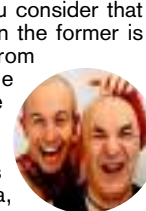

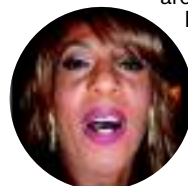

Then, of course, there will be the numerous street bars, with bars actually set up on the street serving all your favourite libations. Dean, Frith and Greek Street will be a mecca of market activity with stalls selling a plethora of gay goodies and lesbian accoutrement. So remember to pack the plastic or get cash out before hand, the cash machine queues will be longer than those for the Harrods sale.

Speaking to Kim Lucas, owner of the Candy Bar and a driving force behind Soho Pride, I put the question: Why Soho Pride when we've just had Pride? "Well we realised that every city that has a gay event has the gay event in Cabaret!

Wristbands are required to gain entry to St Anne's Gardens, an enclosed area which in effect is a VIP area with its own bar, toilets and stage. Wristbands priced at £25 include five free drinks. Wristbands priced at £15 don't include the booze. Mind you, when you consider that the going rate of a spirit and mixer is £3.50 then the former is a very good deal. Wristbands are available from Clone Zone on Old Compton Street.

The cabaret acts come under the collective umbrella of The Black Cap and the line up boasts the biggest names on the circuit. Giving you giggles and singalong fun times are the foul mouthed Sandra, Boy George Experience, award winning Topping and Butch, Dave Lynn, Adrella, glamour terrorist Rose Garden, Dolly Quicksand and queen of the skies Pan Am. Host Simon Happily intersperses the drag with the Comedy Camp. Comedians like Phil Nichol, Nina Conti and Shazia Mirza deliver side-splitting gags.

Dance!

If you find cabaret all a bit too music hall and your penchant is for banging beats and funky tunes then there are three separate DJ areas to satiate the fussiest dancing queen.

Rupert Street features Small Sam, D'Johnny, Per QX and Alan X deliver their trademark uplifting house, playing two hour sets from noon. I asked Swedish funkster D'Johnny how he feels about taking his sound out of the disco and onto the streets; "I'm really looking forward to Soho Pride. I love playing daytime sets as they have a totally different feel, a carnival atmosphere. Soho Pride is a much more intimate affair, the vibe is fantastic."

The Candy Bar street party will take place at the top of Dean Street, kicking off at noon and going through to 8pm. The DJ line up is slick and sassy: Slamma, Philly, Minx, Lil'Jo and Mark Bambach. Mixing it up with lyrical flava are MCs Crystal and Brandy. Expect the finest in RnB, house and disco classics. But there's no need to stop there as the Candy Bar host the official Girls After-Party with DJ Slamma and special guests on the decks. There's an extension through til 2am.

Want more? The Edge on Soho Square might be your ticket. Last year the DJs from DTPM, Discotec and Fiction rocked the streets around Soho Square with a fierce line up. This year they're taking the DJ booth into Soho Square turning the whole of the park into one massive outdoor dance arena. Luke

Hope, funk soul brother Femi B, Miguel Pellitero, Tom McMillan, Guy Williams, Mark Westhenry, Malcolm Duffy and Latin lovely Ariel (in that order, playing one hour sets) deliver that unique Blue Cube/Discotec sound. I asked hunky Tom McMillan how he felt about playing Soho Pride; "We seemed to have lost touch with our diversity and community spirit, everyone is always saying how Pride back in the mid-90s was the best. Soho Pride unites London's gay community. London has the best gay nightlife and these daytime outdoor events prove that London is the party capital of the world, we party 24/7. Oh, and you can guarantee I won't play Lola's Theme!" I put the same question to uber DJ Luke Hope. "It all kicks off at 12 with the park resembling more of a 'dancefloor' than last year's street party, or so Edna tells me. Here's an invite to all you disco addicts to come and prove that you do exist outside of a club."

Always offering the alternative Soho's enfant terribles launch The Cock Block Party. Free admission to the Waikiki Bar on Frith Street will let you to mix and mingle with Tasty Tim, Princess Julia, DJ Rokk., Jim Stanton, The Normal, Tatu and Mikko and the rest of the cocksure Cockettes. Jim told us to watch out for freaks at fire hydrants, chicks with guns, drag bitches with baseball bats and an eruption of electrofunkin'cockblockin' beats. This is one block party that J-Lo ain't invited to!

For the last word, back to Adrian, Soho Pride's Operations Director; "All in all, it's going to be a fantastic event with top acts, DJs, live PAs and drinking/eating alfresco style... God it could be Ibiza!"

> Soho Pride takes place on Sunday 1st August, from noon til 8pm across Soho.

HAVE you been Pink'd? We have! Wednesday night saw the Lushes on the Lash down at London Bridge for a Pink'd promotion. Pink'd is a new venture launched within Boardman Bookings, it came into being because it was realised that there was a distinct lack of event and entertainment services available to the LGBT community. Basically if you have an event and you want it to have that extra bit of pizzazz, that extra sprinkling of magic gay pixie dust that will make your party the talk of the town, then you need your party to be Pink'd. Be it buffed boys to serve delicious hors d'œuvres, beautiful babes to pass out the bubbly, a drag queen hostess, gyrating gogos, body painted statues, top DJs or specialist interior decorators, Pink'd will provide. The three arches next to the SE1 Club were transformed with billowing white drapes, potted palms and metallic balloons. Gorgeous hunks in sarongs handed out complimentary drinks and sexy girls in white mingled with the crowd offering tasty tit bits. DJs Luke Hope and Paul Heron on the decks provided the aural delectation. The highlight of the evening was an art auction with 10% buyer's premium on the hammer price being donated to Cancer ▶

▶ Research UK. Amongst the prints there were Lichtenstein, Warhol and Keith Haring. Prices ranged from £50 to £500. Even a rare film poster of Marliyn Monroe in the 7 Year Itch was snatched up for the QX office. We asked director Clinton Goldsmith how he would sum up Pink'd: "Fabulous, fun, carefree, glam, glitter, outrageous, gorgeous, sexy, stylish with a touch of camp!", We love it. Wednesday and it was off to G-A-Y Bar on Old Compton Street for the launch party of Freshwave's latest DVD release "Ultimate Boy Party" – the UK's first fifteen (yes 15!) boy orgy. G-A-Y Bar is the perfect place to host such a launch party, with it's multiple walls of video screens we were getting more than an eyeful as the porn flick played out. On the 1st May this year it became legal for homos to get together in large numbers and rodger each other senseless, or to use the correct jargon, have "consensual group sex". And da daa! Freshwave got together fifteen highly-sexed horny lads to celebrate the passing of this legislation. The film starts with all the guys together in a chalet somewhere, getting frisky over a game of strip twister. One by one they strip down and get it on. Eventually there's just a writhing mass of arms, legs, cocks, ass-holes, fingers, tongues and toys. On the floor, on the sofa, on the futon, against the wall... if there was a rocking chair they'd be all over that too! Every possible frenzied combination and permutation of boy sex is gratuitously displayed in full DVD clarity and close up. Six of the boys are the finalists from the G-A-Y Porn Idol contest, some are seasoned veterans (Anton has done fourteen films, some even with girls! "A hole's a hole" he said. Fussy then?), and some first-timers - yeah right! Maybe first-timers in front of the camera but pretty well practised off-camera. Some of these boys could suck a golf ball through 20 metres of garden hose. Cum shots? We counted 38 in total, with Josh managing to shoot his load four times! A full review of this film will appear in next week's QX.

On Thursday night we found ourselves getting hairy and beary with the big boys at Tonker, downstairs at Barcode. This was no ordinary Tonker, it was also the joint birthday party of two of the nicest guys on the gay scene: DJ Severino (Horsemeat Disco, Crash, A:M, Orange..) and Julian (Cock door-whore, fashionista, all-round good guy and promoter of Chunk). Many pints of lager later and it was time to call it a day. Pass the alka seltzer! On August 1st (Soho Pride Day), remember that there is a Barcode Street Party in association with Red Bull. DJs keep you dancing in the streets 'til 8pm and if you're still up for more (try another Red Bull), then you can take the action indoors where DJ Mario plays from 4pm 'til 8pm and Alan X plays an exclusive set from 8pm onwards. Happy hour runs from noon until 7pm and check out the extensive shooter menu, over thirty lethal concoctions to get you in the mood. On Friday we were up at the King's Arms on Poland Street saying farewell to Willie the manager, who passed away a couple of weeks ago. The funeral service was held at St. Marylebone Crematorium and was by far the most well-attended service ever to be held there. The church was ▶ packed out with at least two hundred friends standing outside. Not making light of this very sad occasion, but Willie was actually late for his own funeral; as many friends and family waited in the sweltering heat for the hearse to arrive. Always the life and soul of the party, the final song of the service was Willie's favourite Sunday karaoke song "I Could Have Danced All Night". The wake was held from 1pm onwards at the King's Arms and was packed with his many regulars bidding him goodbye. Willie's partner Ron would like to thank everyone for their support at this difficult time. We'll all miss you Willie, the King's Arms won't be the same without you.

On Saturday we were at First Out for the eighteenth birthday party. To say downstairs was packed would be an understatement. It was heaving! Jimmy Sommerville did a surprise guest turn on the decks, playing an eclectic mix of old and new. Many scene faces and regulars turned up to celebrate this gay institution's birthday. With drinks £1.80 all night, Maria and Malcolm ensured everyone was in the party mood. We were lucky enough to nab a few glasses of the complimentary champagne. Cheers!

Donning our best marigolds and pinafores we hot-footed it down to Kudos where they were throwing a Stepford Wives party. The bar was a picture of domesticity with full washing line, ironing board and laundry area. Camp! Obviously, in keeping with true Kudos group tradition, some of the staff were persuaded to drag up (like they need an excuse).

On Soho Pride day, everything will be coming up Ruby as the inimitable Ruby Venezuela hosts at Steph's restaurant on Dean Street. There will be alfresco dining,, a special fantastically priced £5.95 menu and mellow sounds, that is until Ruby takes to the stage. "once seen, never forgotten", Ruby's performances are legendary. Book a table and get a Mary Special for free. Ruby's continuous cabaret runs from 4 to 6pm. Steph's will close from 9th to 23rd August as Steph is off to Athens.

Continuing in a gastronomic vein, Café Rouge on Frith Street has a new French manager, Stephane, who will be making a concerted effort to turn Café Rouge pink! In the afternoon, the doors will be open to those who simply want a bottle of wine and a plate of fries, not necessarily a full meal. But for those having a main meal, there's a complimentary glass of wine.

Just opened on Dean Street last Friday, the super gay-friendly Hamburger Union. As its name suggests Hamburger Union specialises in hamburgers. A huge variety of prime organic meat, an extensive menu, a midnight alcohol license and cocktails to die for. Chose a chorizo burger (delicious), or if you're still on that tired old Atkins trip, a protein burger, or, if you don't eat anything with a face, try the very tasty veggie burger. Our tippie of choice has to be the Baileys milkshake. Hamburger Union is situated next door to the Soho Theatre.

At the Sanctuary on Greek Street, their new menu has been received with great success. The fabulous thing is they serve food right through 'til closing. On Wednesdays singer Gail Mackinnon will host a show ▶

▶ THURSDAY 29TH JULY

▶ Barcode at 3-4 Archer Street, Soho. 9pm-1am. Two parties in one sexy venue! Homosocial in the upstairs bar with Stewart Who?. Plus, there's Tonker Lite in the basement for bears & their fans. Booze and cruise with DJs, pool & table football.

▶ Discotec at The End. 10pm-4am. Hip, happening, sexy, violently social and one of the funkier clubs in town. Get there early or you'll have to wait in line for this popular weekly event at one of London's best dance venues.

▶ Rude Boyz at Fire, South Lambeth Road, Vauxhall, SW8. 10pm-late. £6, £4 UB40/NUS. Men-only night for lads who like lads. Best Reeboks, trackies and Burberry. New & improved with Amsterdam cruise cabins, pleasure holes, hot'n'horny cinema + Rude Boyz performance. Cheeky, naughty and horny.

▶ Dirty Fairy at 333 Old Street. 10pm-4am. £5. Messy mid-weeker starts here! Pure upbeat party, performance and porno that bulldozes over pop, rock, disco, house and hip-hop. Tonight: Pack the poppers, tack on that tache, wheel out the old leathers... it's the Retro Clone Party!

▶ Boot Camp at Substation South, 9 Brighton Terrace. 10.30pm-late. £3, £6 for those not in dress code. The weekly military, rubber, leather, jock and boot mid-weeker moves to Thursday! DJ Thanos & Rob C on rotation. Bootshine/Hair crops, plus the 'Kit Shop' for buying, selling, exchanging toys, videos and other naughties.

▶ G-A-Y Music Factory at the Astoria. 11pm-4am. £1 w/conc. .G-A-Y's more clubby cousin, with lashings of booze and lots of cuties. The main floor DJs play happy hardbag with lighter handbag in Room 2. DJs Don Grant and Ian T.

▶ Electro Gogo at Madame Jojo's, Soho. 10pm - late, £5/£4 with flyer. Fierce electro, disco and all things fashionably alternative. Tonight: The last club night till Sept 9th! Catch it now.

▶ Boots Only at Man Bar at 82 Great Suffolk Street, SE1. 8pm-1am. One of London's best Boot nights... Sleazy, horny... watch out for bootshine boy.

▶ FRIDAY 30TH JULY

▶ Fusion at Fridge, 1 Town Hall Parade, SW2. 10.30pm-5am. £5 w/flyer b4 12, £10 after. Orange & A:M present their Friday mix at south London's grandest club venue, featuring a stunning array of lasers, light shows. With DJs Paul Martin, Hugh Stevenson & Gonzalo and production to swoon to.

▶ Dirty Dishes at Substation South. 10.30pm-5am. £6, £4 with QX ad. Sordid disco attracting horny boys from all over south London and beyond. The ultimate melting pot of sexy guys and hot house from DJs Martin Confusion and Slammas. Tonight: DJ Carlos Rodrigues joins the Dirty duo on the decks.

▶ The Cock at The Ghetto, Falconberg Court, W1. 10pm-4:30am. £5 b4 11:30pm, £6 others. Pulls a heady mix of freaks, cocky boys, hookers and lookers. This edgy night's gone from fierce to the fiercest! Hot & spiky mix of electro & disco-punk from residents Tasty Tim, Princess Julia and guests.

▶ Popstarz at The Scala. 10pm-5am. Free entry before 11pm with ad/web ad then £ varies. Long-running, colossal indie bash attracting gay punksters, sk8ter boys and riot girls. A wave of alternative fun! With R&B in the Love Lounge, kitsch retro in the Trash Room & big indie hits in the Common Room.

▶ Fiction at The Cross, Kings Cross, N1. 11pm-late. £9 b4 11.30pm, Members/NUS £11, guests £15. The club for the fashionable, friendly and funky. Kiss goodbye to the working week in style. From deep & tribal sounds, through to funky & vocal tunes and a melting pot of dance in the VIP.

▶ Growlhouse at Fire, South Lambeth Road, Vauxhall, SW8. 10pm-3am. £6, £5 members. Bears do Vauxhall with this popular busy bear fest of sexy big boys and the smaller lads who like them. Check it out and try on a furry coat or two.

▶ Camp Attack at The Astoria. 11pm-4am. Cheap fun, innocent music, camp atmosphere and a harmless start to the weekend. The best in '70s and '80s on the main floor with classic '90s hits in the 2nd room. With the Camp Attack Classic Half Hour.

▶ A:M at Fire, South Lambeth Road, Vauxhall, SW8. 3am (Saturday morning)-midday. £12, £10 with flyer. When most people are shopping or just waking up, this lively lot are resisting the lure of bed. Sharp Boys, David Jimenez & Gonzalo kick you into Saturday. Mikey D plays in the Funky Room.

▶ Chunk at South Central, 349 Kennington Lane, Vauxhall, SE11. £4 Bearhug/Megawoof members, £5 others. Weekly frenzy for burly bears, husky hunks, chubbies & chasers, gen x bears & trailer trash of all types... free bbq till midnight.

▶ SATURDAY 31ST JULY

▶ Classic Crash at Crash, 66 Goding St, SE11. £10 Crash/Beyond members or b4 12, £15 after. The venue that started the Vauxhall Revolution welcomes back its original underground Saturday night. COCK LIVE!, WIG OUT AND EXTREME EUPHORIA BY CHRIS JEPSON
ORANGE AND PUSH THE LIMIT BY NIKKI CROOKS

PERHAPS it's because I'll dance to anything but Nana Mouskouri that I found myself mixing cocktails for this town's weirdest relationship on Saturday evening. They say anything goes in London, and it certainly does in that apartment. For my hosts, three's never a crowd – although I keep insisting they upgrade to a king size bed as that old queen of theirs is showing the strain. Never a crowd, that is, until it's time to go out. Three boys, three very different ideas on the definition of dancefloor kicks – this lot have never managed to last more than an hour in the same nightclub, which has put a serious dent in their post-club shag-lives. And so I was drafted in to marshall a night-long social experiment to keep them together right though till dawn.

Because he's bossy and French we indulged Antoine's tastes first and headed for The Cock Live! Dressed like a cut-price pirate Antoine hit the dance-floor, David muttered something about soulless computer music and Louis tried to look enthusiastic without the aid of hard trance and a mega laser. Meanwhile the busy Crash main-floor anticipated performances from Brooks, Mula and Selfish Cunt. Flop-fringed pretty boy Brooks hit the synthesisers first and had the whole place dancing to dirty-tech Cock smash 'Do The Math' before modern technology short-circuited leaving him to twiddle knobs, jab buttons and apologise sweetly for the silence. We nipped into room 2 to terrorise the dancefloor as George and Dragon Shoreditch favourites Nathaniel Lee Jones, Pippa 'Shop Girl' Brooks and The Lovely Jon Jo mixed up everything from new wave to hip-house and rock n roll (which suited David better) before returning to an excellent funk-soul-jackin house set from Brighton's Mula. Angry young man Selfish Cunt rounded the live-action off with his uniquely twisted car crash of punk faggotry - a sound so terrifying for little Louis that he waited for us in the street outside. Cock Live! returns next month, with regular Cock running every Friday at the Ghetto.

Dragging Antoine out of the building by his chains, we headed to Wig Out at Ghetto to fulfil David's part of the deal. As usual the place was packed, bouncing and full of smiles and it appeared that David was on first name terms with just about everyone. As the booze flowed the music shifted from Blondie to Britney and Whitney to Weezer faster than a radio hijacked by a kid with Attention Deficit Disorder. Antoine, by now quite pissed, looked reasonably happy but Louis was hunched in a corner chewing gum with manic intent and a far away look in his eyes. To cheer him up we played spot the totty, which was a breeze provided you we're not into wax-addicted muscle boys. Everyone else, from admirers of svelte students to cheery chubbies, was catered for and the night was yet another reminder that you can cram a ton more fun into a dancefloor if you drop the attitude. Catch Wig out every Saturday at the Ghetto.

After bribing David with tequila shots we managed to stumble back up the stairs the trio still intact. Hell, they were actually talking to each other, and as we joined the short queue outside the club the thud thud familiar to any Trade-goer seeped up from the cavern beneath Farringdon. But this wasn't the infamous afterhours, this was Extreme Euphoria - and the place was absolutely rammed with a friendly and fired-up mix of straight lads, cheeky girls and plenty of go-go a bit harder boys with their tops off. Louis headed straight for the laser-beamed nirvana of the main floor where Lisa Lashes was pile-driving a hard trance set that had hands in the air more often than a step-aerobic instructor on fast-forward. Sensing that David and Antoine's threshold would probably be breached before the next breakdown I shepherded them into the Union Jack bedecked lite room where Gonzalo was enthraling the crowd with a twisted, chunky and funky house set. Judging by the groans when the lights came up at 6am this place could have kept going till midday but instead I packed our trio into a taxi towards some Sunday morning bedroom action and looked forward to going out with some normal people the next night.

A happily relationship-free posse took off for Orange at 4am on a Monday morning. Ahem, like I said: normal people. When we got in, Fire was fast filling up - all the free T-shirts and Oli Cds had been bagged - and Oli himself was tearing up the main-floor with an excellent opening set that toed the line between funky and tech-warped. This DJ is rising fast and the crowd, which encompassed everyone from the muscle set to the club kids and (although our eyes might have been deceiving us) a famous fashion designer and his friends, were lapping it up. ►

► The all-new ice-cream machine proved popular... if a little messy when some cheeky minx left it running. The mood was definitely touching the ceiling – in fact some people were so chilled-out they almost sounded convincing when they said they'd be going to work in three hours time. Yeah, right! A pumping back-to-back set from Stevie B and The Sharp Boys kept us on the dance-floor and our only regret was that it was so good we didn't spend much time in room 2 where two of our favourite DJs, Gonzalo and David Jiminez, were jacking-up the Latin sex factor. A special Midnight Orange is at Fire this Sunday from 11pm. Meanwhile, QX Team 2 were dispatched to check out the new after-hours on the Vauxhall block, Push The Limit at the recently opened Studio 33. It's a brave move to throw a rival party round the corner from the well-established Orange, but Push The Limit put their DJ line-up where their mouths are. With Fat Tony ruling the roost alongside Luke Hope, David Rosen and Jo Public you know there are going to be some choice tunes giving the sound-system a workout and they certainly delivered. It was a very quiet London weekend in general with people saving themselves for Soho Pride this weekend, so perhaps it wasn't surprising there were empty spaces amongst the mixed crowd come 8am. But spirits at this funky-deep house session were high and the worries of the working week ahead were pushed aside, much like the club's name said it would. Push The Limit runs every Monday morning from 4.30am.

London might be the city where anything goes but it's gay contingent will only be heading in one direction on August 7th: Royal Brighton. Whatever the weather - and hopefully it'll be scorching like last year - we'll be sashaying down the seafront before piling into the park for Brighton Pride. And this year the options for the post-Pride party are truly fit for a queen. As ever, the official party is Wild Fruit, where they'll be slapping on the beats at various venues throughout the weekend. On Saturday afternoon Wild Fruit will be hosting the 4,000 capacity big top at Preston Park while the official Pride Party takes place at the Zap club (10pm-5am) with Paul Heron and Rob Sykes joining Mr Haywood and Dulcie Danger. The party will then throb back into life with Sunday Sundaes at Audio (ex-Escape club) from 3pm-11pm on Sunday (and every Sunday) while the Wild Fruit 'Up Pompeii' party at Creation will close Pride later that night with a saucy wink worthy of a young Frankie Howard. Oh, and Wild Fruit's regular monthly night at Creation is on this Sunday with a Pyjama party special. But Trade is muscling in on the action on Pride Day August 7th too, with a party that promises to rock The Ocean Rooms from 10pm-4am. Malcolm Duffy, Gonzalo and Pete Wardman power up the harder Trade sound, Fat Tony joins Tom McMillan on a mission to funk the Lite floor and Mark Bambach puts the 'I' in V.I.P. Other options throughout the weekend include the Popstarz tent at Preston Park, Dr Brightons all day street party on Sunday and Residence at the Honeyclub on Sunday night from 10.30pm with the tuff-house sound. Underground friendliness and twisted electro, breaks and disco are to be found on Sat 7th up the road in Hove as Danceteria takes over The Old Market from 11pm with Philippa Jarman (Homoelectric) and James

► Hillard of Horse Meat Disco fame. Finally, Coco Latte throw a rival Pride closing party with Mark Bambach at Envy on Marine Parade from 10pm on the 8th. But before you disco gals get too excited, there's the important business of getting in some dance-floor practice in. Premier gay dancers of London will unite at Soho Pride on Sunday 1st August as the queer village's bar owners stop clumping each other with their Louis Vuitton handbags for one whole day and lay on a free party. This year will be even bigger than last year's debut with DJ stages at Rupert Street as well as Carlisle Street and Soho Square from midday till 8pm. The Cock will also be in force at Soho Pride taking over Waikiki Bar for the day. Be there, and make the tourists stare. Horse Meat Disco provides an alternative safe haven for wobbly trash-bags on Sunday 1st Aug (1pm-1am) as Victor Rosado is beamed via time warp from the NY Paradise Ga-raage to South Central Vauxhall which means classic D-I-S-C-O is on the cards. Some of the lucky crowd will no doubt have been shifting their asses to the modern face of gay disco at Classic Crash the night before. Sat 31st July sees new boys David Jimenez, Mikey D and Severino join the stella original Crash line-up of DJs to rock through till dawn, and there's a chance to win a Summer Fun in the Sun holiday from Alternative Holidays in Sardinia - the gay mafia vacation of choice in September. All at regular Saturday night hours! Back to a very busy Sunday 1st Aug and Salvation goes military at Pacha. Yes, 'rogue states' of the world will be quaking in their boots at the thought of a thousand buffed and waxed glam-marys marching the two-step with General Gesus. Will your privates be on parade? Military precision in the awesome music from the fine funky house spinsters is on hand to get you moving. Harder stuff can be found at Concrete, a new Sunday club at Soundshaft (behind Heaven). Pete Wardman stars with a Trade-style sound in what feels like a return to the days of Troll and Sherbet - remember them? Get in a trance from 4pm. Another Sabbath temple of gay dance can be found at Café De Paris as the Divine diva of Top Shop returns desk (sorry) when Dusty

O returns with monthly night Church. If you don't like top ten commercial chart busters then don't bother - this is a night for the tunes you know and love most... pure pop and commercial dance. Join the queue for chicken 'n' cheap drinks from 8pm! At the same time over on Greek St, R&B club Honey will be finding sanctuary at Sanctuary, with DJ Philly and Aubrey, the-promoter-who-cannot-stand-still. Another Aubrey special, Booteeq, runs from 10pm till tres late at the sumptuous Rouge, off Charing Cross Road. This is the most glamorous and funky Sunday club around with the likes of Tallulah, Fat Tony and Matt Ross plus R&B in the Milkshake room. Also on Sunday 1st, Ricochet pumps up the harder chunky boluncy house with Rachel Auburn at Egg from 4pm - their recent 1st birthday was a blast. Over in the East End Benjys at Purple E3 continues to provide the popular tunes and cheap drinks for cockney lads and Essex boys from 9pm. And of course, dance monster DTPM holds court as king of the Sunday clubs in terms of size and variety with house, harder/tech house and those rump-shaking r&b beats too. Never mind purple, Discotec's going to be Black and Blue this Thursday 5th as the Montreal festival touches ►

▶ down on West Central Street. DJ Mat St Marie spins the tunes, you get a chance to win two VIP tickets to Black and Blue in Montreal with the help of Air Canada.

Another dancefloor you'll need a passport for takes place in Amsterdam on the 7th Aug. The legendary White Party Amsterdam at Powerzone will throb to the tunes of Steve Pitron and Amsterdam's number one, Roog. Check www.whiteparty.nl for more info on this massive event. The following week, the circuit is picked up again at Marmara for White Party Ibiza for a Gay Tea Dance extravaganza with that summer essential – an al fresco terrace.

Drama is fast becoming the stuff of legend too – and the club's found its way into style-bible i-D, quite possibly providing promoter Terry Hart with his proudest moment yet. But now the thrill of framing the magazine in his toilet has dissipated, Monseur Hart gets on with throwing the fashion set's favourite party with an all new West End debut at Rouge - i-D's Larry Dunsten will be on hand to snap exhibitionists on Sat 7th Aug.

A fair few fashion types can also be spotted at Dirty Fairy every Thursday at 333 Old Street. But everyone's welcome for a riotous night of themed fun with Satanica Pandamonica our favourite insane person/performance artiste, and to prove it there's a bus from the Kings Arms in Poland Street at 11pm so that Soho queens can slum it in Shoreditch for the night. And there's more: Satanica Pandamonica has a day job - shock! Yes, it's true, Jonny Woo pays for all that chiffon and nail varnish with a stint calling out the numbers at Gay Bingo – that's bingo for homosexuals and lesbians – at Brixton Bar & Grill (15 Atlantic Road) from 5pm on Sun 1st August, with DJs and 5 Shot Tequila full-house action 'n' ting.

As for the shirts off tribe, there'll be a full house (ker-ching!) at Action this week. Regulars will probably be pleased to hear Action is returning to its original floor-plan and formula on Sat 31st July at Renaissance Rooms after the confusion of the last outing. Whilst the feedback from the change a couple of Saturdays ago was mixed (some queens just don't like change whilst others embrace it!), promoters Mike and Andrew have listened to the fans and the main room is back where the main always was. Rob Sykes, Gonzalo and Stewart Who? are on hand to prove that the tunes are still equally massive.

There'll be another full house at XXL every Saturday as the big boys and their admirers flock to the most gigantic bear club in the world at The Arches London Bridge. The XXL dad-dies will also be at Brighton Pride on 7th August and hosting a special party at Brighton's Candy Bar on the 8th from 10pm.

Megawoof! Also provides beats for bears – plus sk8r boys jocks and bikers at Crash on Saturday 7th Aug from 10pm. A dance party for men only, this is getting quite a reputation as a hot monthly destination.

Meanwhile The Den continues to provide bangin' beats for beefy blokes at South Central every 2nd & 4th Sunday of the month. There'll be rather less hair in the house at G-A-Y as August is devoted to G-A-Y B'g B'other with 10 young house mates on stage battling it out for possible prize ▶ ▶ money of £5,000 every Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, as the usual dance-floor shenanigans go on around them. If you want to enter get to the Astoria at 6pm this Thursday 29th July where budding house mates are chosen if you want to take part in what must be one of the biggest cash prizes up for grabs that a gay venue has ever offered.

Things will be a tad more sophisticated at Diskocreame on Wednesday 4th August as Stewart Who? And Harj play sexy house for trendy boys and girls, with Tonic on the mike. Over at Heaven Fruit Machine continues to hit the jackpot with its mix of R&B and top-hole funky house every Wednesday with 2 for 1 cocktails all night.

Thursday nights have been go-going Electrogogo at Madame Jo Jos but the club is having a break until September 9th so this Thursday 29th is your last chance for some Mark Moore inspired Moog-iness. Misshapes provides a different kind of off-mainstream buzz every Thursday at Ghetto with its mix of indie and most excellent music and they'll be blessed by a visit from Har Mar Superstar who performs on Thursday 12th August. The following night Motherfucker gets Kaotic with punk retro rock and live sounds from 5 O'clock heroes and The Mighty Fraff at Infinity Mayfair. Another Friday night frenzy, but with an electronic twist will be unleashed at The Cock on August 6th – as the Ghetto pays homage to Blitz, the infamous 80s club of choice for show offs and wannabe synth-stars. Rusty Egan will be on hand to pull the well worn 12 inches from his DJ box and those who dress like Boy George on a bender could get in for nowt.

If you want to keep the Friday vibe alive then A:M at Fire continues to go down a treat from 3am till noon with top sets from the likes of David Jimenez and The Sharp Boys.

A more mixed-up music policy is in force at Heaven where you can choose between R&B, funky house and commercial anthems from star DJs David Rosen, Tom McMillan and Wayne G. And there's a massive performance on the main stage this Saturday (31st July) as Darren 'Insatiable' Hayes stops counting his millions long enough to remind us what it's like to be a pop star with 'Popular.' And if you want to keep your engine ticking over after all that then Beyond is, of course, the busiest after-hours in town at Super Club Coliseum with the likes of Sharp Boys and Paul Heron on the decks, 4.30am till late. The following night, as mentioned, Midnight Orange returns from 11pm till very late at Fire with Hugh Stevenson playing a special extended set.

Watch out for MA1's 2nd birthday party at The Hoist on August 7th with loads of freebies from DVD players to porn-rm Cazzo. Changes from the MA1 camp include Club CP on every 1st Saturday of the month at Central Station, with Sin Bin moving to the 4th Saturday of the month with its open fetish dress code and Shoot moving to the 1st Sunday of the month for sports fetishists everywhere. Mark 'em in your diary.

Finally, the funky house massive can look forward to another full-on Fusion at The Fridge this Friday 30th July with Gonzalo joining Hugh Stevenson and Paul Martin to power up the reactor and get the fireworks going. Massive lasers, top production, lots of totty – you don't need to be a nuclear scientist to know this is a winner.

STEAMY STUFF

> BY ADRIAN

SINCE I last visited this sauna two and a half years ago a lot has happened to the venue. The previous owners moved the sauna to another part of the East-end. New owners attempted to run it as a night club. The night club project never really took off and now its back to its former glory as a Sauna with one of its former owners at the helm. I know that the 800 sauna is a hop, skip and a schlep from central London but I have to say its well worth it.

The sauna entrance and café area is now on the ground floor. The 800 sauna is opened every day from 12 noon till 12 midnight. Entrance is only £10.00 and discounts for DSS and Students are available. The café area seats about 12 guys in comfort and sells a wide range of soft drinks and confectionary. Tea and coffee are available for 50p. You are given 1 towel on arrival and extra towels are free on request. The bulk of the sauna is on the first floor. The locker rooms are spacious but could benefit with some seating if only used for tying up ones shoe laces. Next to the locker rooms is the very large lounge area with a TV showing commercial stations. The large leather sofas are ideal for watching your favourite soap. Through the lounge is the sauna area. There is a large communal showering area with a very stylish stone floor and stone bench. This is one of my favourite parts of the sauna. There is a twelve-man steam room and sauna next to the showers and two toilets, making this area compact and easy to use.

A flight of stairs off the lounge leads to the second floor. There is a large video room showing R18 videos with plenty of built in seating. At the rear of the video room is a dark relaxation room with a built in lounging area. Further along the corridor on this level are 14 well-lit cabins and 2 toilets. I was struck by the friendliness of the clients at the 800 sauna, with a varied range of ages and types. The sauna gets busy in the afternoons during the week and, of course, during the weekend. On Thursday night they have a very popular Tranny night, which starts at 10.00pm and finishes at 3.00am, call for details. All in all, a hot and horny sauna with a wide range of attitude free, friendly clients.

CHARITIES

Camden Victim Support (CVS), part of a national charity, has received a welcome donation of £1,500 to support victims of homophobic and transphobic hate crimes and incidents. Faceparty, who raised this money through organising Big Gay Out, have made the annual pride party a non-commercial event and all proceeds will be distributed within the voluntary sector. Jan Aszembierski, Borough Manager for CVS, said that the money would be used to expand the charity's outreach support service. She was delighted with the support from Faceparty and looked forward to Big Gay Out 2005.

If you have suffered a homophobic or transphobic hate crime incident please call Joe Akram, LGBT Co-ordinator on 020 7388 9550 or email-

COVER BOYS

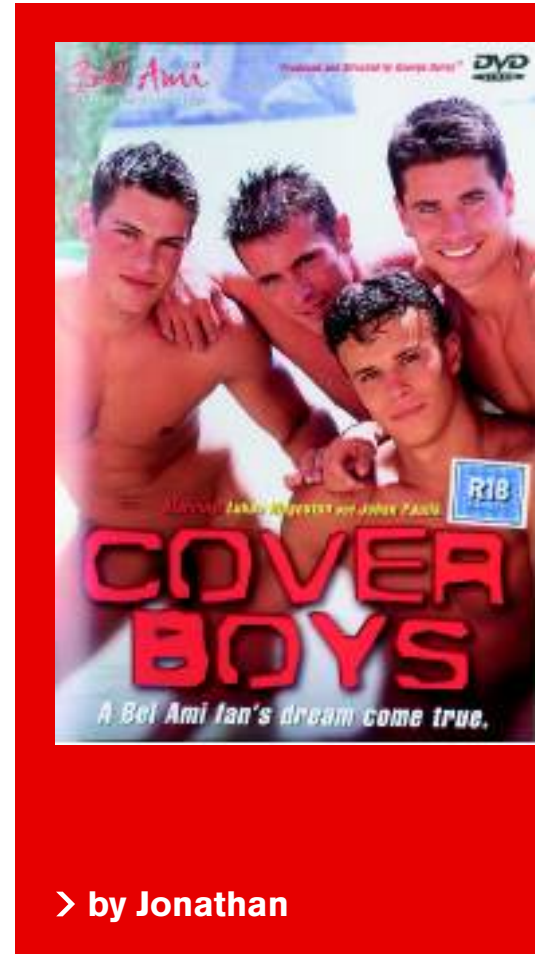

LUKAS RIDGESON and Johan Paulik star in this award winning Bel Ami classic, which after popular demand has been released on DVD in the UK. The hardcore action sequences here are stunning and show why these two guys are such world-class porn stars. Johan awesomely fucks the almost exclusively top Sebastian Bonnet and, afterwards fucks the glorious Tim Hamilton, in the first scene he has ever filmed. Lukas teams up with gorgeous Claude Coctean, Jason Paradis and big-ducked Max Orloff. The main part of this feature was filmed in Greece and it's great to see the perfect Bel Ami boys romping on a beach and fucking under natural lighting. The main part of this film has perfect Bel Ami orgy scenes which are very very sexy and the grande finale has Lukas and Johan fucking together in a spunk filled threesome with the utterly amazing (and very very lucky) Adam Cartier.

Will Bel Ami ever make a bad film? Well, not this release, that's for sure. This is an awesome, incredibly erotic hardcore film. Great Stuff!

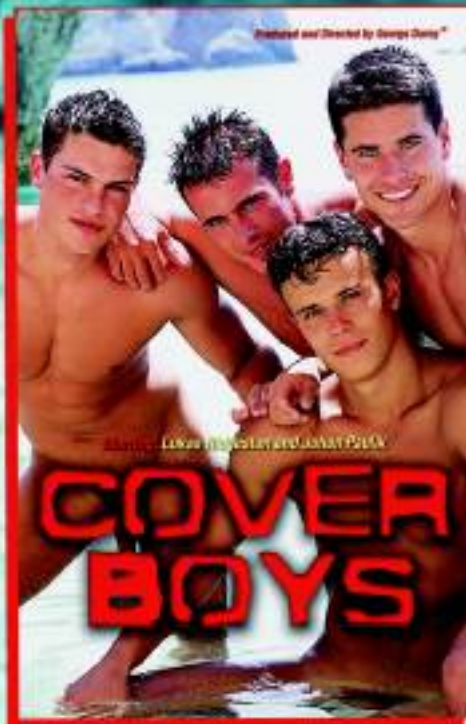

> Prowler has got five copies of Cover Boys to give away. Just send your name and address to comps@prowlerdirect.co.uk by Wednesday 4th August and the first five e-mails chosen at random will each receive a copy.

> Cover Boys is available from Prowler Stores & Expectations and online at www.prowlerstores.co.uk

BOOKS

> BY BEOWULF

▶ SECRET DREAMS by Alan Strachan (Weidenfeld & Nicolson)

OUT of all the actor-knights that bestrode the British theatre of the twentieth century, Michael Redgrave was the most troubled. That he instituted an acting dynasty that has spawned Vanessa Redgrave and Natasha Richardson is but one of his accomplishments. That he introduced a more intellectual approach to acting in this country, incorporating the dream theories of Freud and the Method, bringing it into the modern era. That he was willing to explore and expand his professional horizons while also leading a hectic private life, that saw him married with children but equally as attracted to men. With one or more of the Redgraves in the news, it is fascinating to read how this formidable acting family came into being.

▶ THE DYING OF DELIGHT by Clare Sudbery (Diva Books)

CLARE SUDBERY'S debut is a wry novel about time and how it plays tricks on us. Silver Bergman has a job in IT, lives in a house full of crazy friends, waiting for a solar eclipse. That her life begins to unravel and entwines with another woman called Edna is where the fun really starts. Shades of Douglas Adams come through in her style, that has both the comic style and the pathos of that late great writer, bodes well for her next book.

▶ DAVID BECKHAM - MADE IN MANCHESTER by Eamonn & James Clarke (Dewi Lewis Media Ltd)

HARDLY a day goes by without a story in the tabloid press about David and Victoria Beckham. Since his fall from grace and subsequent rise to demigod, and now somewhere in between, Goldenballs could virtually do no wrong, despite recent revelations, whereas the Spice formerly known as Posh has struggled to resurrect her pop career. This photo-book documents David's rise from one of Alex Ferguson's young guns at Manchester United to the heights of Spanish and international football is a fascinating look at how a schoolboy with a passion for his sport turned into a modern sporting and style icon. It shows how his taste has changed over the years from cars, girls and clubs, demonstrating how he emerged from the shadows of his fellow team player Ryan Giggs, the supposed pretender to George Best's mantle, to Beckham's present status as global superstar.

▶ BEING JORDAN by Katie Price (John Blake)

SHE has been called a slapper, mentally unstable and, worst of all, an unfit mother. Jordan nee Katie Price a twenty-first century conundrum. Is she a post-feminist icon or just a dumb blonde that got lucky because of her surgically enhanced breasts? She may have only notched up a quarter of a century on the planet but she has crammed as much experience as she does into one of her skimpier outfits. Her autobiography details the bad times as well as the good of a celebrity who is a reflection of our obsession with titillation and trivia. That she recounts her torrid affairs with men, as well as revealing the down - as well as the upside of her plastic surgery, with honesty yet without little rancour demonstrates that she definitely is no one's idea of a bimbo.

▶ TOMMY'S TALE by Alan Cumming (Penguin)

TOMMY is a photographer's assistant, living in North London with his two best friends, dating a wonderful man with an eight-year-old son. He should be having the time of his life but he is on the cusp of turning thirty. Alan Cumming's debut novel is a riotous journey through one man's breakdown as he struggles with a world that offers too many options and not enough solutions. Cumming has made a name for himself as a versatile actor, on stage and screen, director and co-writer on the cult sitcom The High Life, there appears to be no end to this man's talents.

▶ STRAIGHT BOYS: VOLUME 2 by Steven Underhill (Bruno Gmunder)

HOW straight these boys are remains to be seen, but in the follow-up to the first volume, this is another arresting collection of black and white photographs. The first book was the most successful of its kind and this is a worthy successor. A visual hymn to the young Californian male in all his beauty and form.

▶ LOOKING FOR SEX IN SHAKESPEARE by Stanley Wells (Cambridge University Press)

In 2002 Professor Stanley Wells, one of the world's leading Shakespearean scholars, gave three lectures at Globe Education. His insights are reproduced here in book form for those who were unable to attend, as they provide a contemporary commentary into the plays and poetry of the greatest writer in the English language. Far from the dusty halls of academe and the snobbish elitism of most of British theatre, his is a refreshing look at how bawdy the Bard really could be and Elizabethan society in general. By examining the more earthy elements of Shakespeare's plays, Wells reveals that his work is for everyone and not just those in the heritage business.
